

Derek Hutchinson, Ph.D. is an analytics consultant on the people insights team at BetterUp. His research interests are focused on occupational health, worker wellbeing, and organisational climate with a specific focus in the healthcare industry. He also specializes in organisational assessments and research design.

Erin Eatough, Ph.D., is the Manager and Lead Researcher of Behavioral Science at BetterUp. Erin received her PhD in Industrial-Organizational Psychology from the University of South Florida. She actively publishes research on the intersection of work and well-being and frequently speaks on the topic in both industry and academic forums.

Evan Carr did his undergraduate studies at Cornell University, before earning a PhD in Psychology & Cognitive Science from the University of California, San Diego in 2016. Since then, he's served in a variety of data science roles within industry and academia, and he's currently a Senior Research Scientist at Amazon.

Evan Sinar, Ph.D., is BetterUp's Head of Assessments, designing a strategic system of diagnostic whole-person assessments fueling growth through guided behavior change. He frequently authors and presents on AI, coaching, and HR analytics. Evan is a fellow and two-term executive board member of the Society for Industrial-Organizational Psychology (SIOP).

Gabriella Rosen Kellerman, MD, is the Chief Product Officer at BetterUp, Inc and Founder of BetterUp Labs, the founding CEO of LifeLink, and a serial advisor to/executive at health technology companies. She holds an MD with honors from Mount Sinai School of Medicine, and a BA from Harvard University.